JUSTIFICATION:

The sustainable escapement goal (SEG) for Anchor River king salmon is 3,800–10,000 fish. The SEG was achieved in 2012 with preseason inriver restrictions and with inseason restrictions on the inriver and marine sport fisheries. From 2009–2011, the SEG was not achieved despite inseason inriver and marine restrictions to reduce king salmon harvest in the sport fishery. The 2013 outlook for the Anchor River king salmon run is below the historical average and is expected to be similar to the 2009–2012 runs.

The Ninilchik River SEG is 550–1,300 wild king salmon and the egg-take goal for hatchery-produced king salmon in 2013 is 111 pairs. The 2013 outlook for the Ninilchik River is below the historical average and expected to be similar to the 2007–2012 king salmon runs. King salmon escapement was below the SEG in 2007 and 2009, but was met in 2008, and 2010–2012. In 2007–2009 and 2012, egg-take goals were not achieved despite extending weir operations. In 2010, egg-takes were not needed for stocking, but if they were, the number of king salmon was insufficient to meet egg-take goals. Inriver sport fishing restrictions occurred each year from 2010–2012, and sport fishing restrictions occurred in the nearby marine sport fishery in 2012.

The recent poor king salmon runs in Lower Cook Inlet streams and uncertainty over how quickly the runs may rebound justify starting the 2013 season with restrictions in order to achieve the escapement and egg-take goals and provide fishing opportunity throughout the season. To minimize the shifting of effort due to conservation actions for the Anchor River and Ninilchik River, it is warranted to restrict sport fishing on Deep Creek as well.

PREVIOUS EMERGENCY ORDERS AFFECTED:

Emergency Order No. 2-KS-7-03-13 closes waters of the Anchor River drainage from its mouth upstream to the junction of the North and South forks to sport fishing each Wednesday and decreases the waters of the Anchor River drainage open to sport fishing by relocating the ADF&G regulatory marker downstream approximately 1,000 feet below the junction of the North and South forks. This emergency order remains in effect from 12:01 a.m., Wednesday, May 1, 2013, through 11:59 p.m., Sunday, June 30, 2013.

Emergency Order No. 2-KS-7-04-13 establishes a combined annual limit of two king salmon 20 inches or greater in length for fish harvested in the Anchor River, Deep Creek, and Ninilchik River and all marine waters south of the latitude of the mouth of the Ninilchik River (60° 03.99' N. lat.) to the latitude of Bluff Point (59° 40.00' N. lat.). In addition a person who takes and retains a king salmon 20 inches or greater in length from Deep Creek, Anchor River, or Ninilchik River may not sport fish in any of those drainages for the rest of the day. This emergency order remains in effect from 12:01 a.m., Wednesday, May 1, 2013 through 11:59 p.m., Sunday, June 30, 2013.

Emergency Order No. 2-KS-7-06-13 reduces the bag and possession limit for king salmon in the Ninilchik River drainage to one king salmon 20 inches or greater in length. During the 3-day weekend fishing periods that begin on Memorial Day weekend, anglers may retain either a hatchery king salmon or a naturally-produced (wild) king salmon. Beginning in July, anglers may only retain hatchery king salmon. This emergency order remains in effect from 12:01 a.m., Wednesday, May 1, 2013, through 11:59 p.m., Thursday, October, 31, 2013.
